

Environmental Policy

The senior management of Denmaur Independent Papers is committed to responsible environmental management.

We acknowledge our obligations to address the environmental impacts associated with our business activities and to comply with the statutory and regulatory requirements that are relevant to our business sector.

The significant environmental aspects (i.e. the business activities that cause, or risk causing, detrimental effects to the environment) that relate to our company have been identified and evaluated, and fall into the categories of paper sourcing, office functions and transportation.

We have implemented a structured Environmental Management System (EMS) with set objectives, targets and programmes that are subject to review, and documented procedures and records that monitor and measure our performance to reduce pollutions to air, water and land.

The performance of our EMS is maintained through the principle of continual improvement, which includes compliance evaluation, staff training, auditing (internal and external) and stakeholder communication.

This policy is publically available. It will be reviewed at least annually and revised where necessary.
